→ Welcoming requires more than you; you cannot be welcoming by yourself, in seclusion.

① When you have heard the story of the dinner at Simon's house previously, are welcoming and the attributes of that welcome, what you have seen in that story?

② What have you seen in the past?

③ If you haven't seen this gospel-welcome picture in the past, why would you think that is?

④ How have either of the last two Sunday morning studies caught you off-guard regarding all being welcome, and what that welcome actually looks like?

⑤ How do you express welcome in the following instances? (This is not a question about your spiritual giftedness.)

① → What are ways that you can express welcome, as hospitality, in your home or neighborhood that you aren't already doing regularly?

In and among the church?

② → What are ways that you can express welcome, in greeting, in your home, in someone else's home, your neighborhood or workplace, that you aren't already doing regularly?
